7	Thirty years of apartheid isolation did some damage, yet despite many international disappointments, both teams have risen to the occasion since South Africa's readmission to international sport in 1992, winning honours against the world's toughest opposition.	40
8	But it is football – or soccer, as it is universally called here – that has won the hearts of South Africa's black majority. South Africa is by no means a giant in the world of soccer, but for many black South Africans, the country's proudest sporting moment came when it won the African Nations Cup on home turf in 1996 – having failed to even qualify for the previous cup. Soccer is intensely followed, and the quality of the local game keeps improving – as is demonstrated by the increasing number of South African players-in-exile among the glamorous European clubs. The national team, nicknamed Bafana Bafana, which means 'The Boys', is extraordinarily erratic, beating giants, then succumbing to minnows.	45
9	Local teams, organised in a national league plus a plethora ³ of knock-out cups, are followed with the same passion as in many other countries, by paint-daubed, costumed, whistling and cheering fans. Mercifully, the country has been spared the spectre of football hooliganism.	50
10	The list of South African sporting achievements goes wider than the 'big three' sports, however. In a country of magnificent golf courses, for example, it is not surprising that South Africa has bred some world-beating stars, from Bobby Locke in the post-World War Two period to Gary Player – who walked away with more international trophies than arch-rival Jack Nicklaus – to new stars Ernie Els, Retief Goosen, Trevor Immelman and others. South Africa has also bred world champions among our swimmers, athletes, surfers, boxers, tennis players and more.	55

Carefully read TEXT C below. It discusses the nature of positive thinking and people's attitudes to it.

NOTE: You are required to do the following:

- Summarise what the writer has to say about the advantages of positive thinking in 80–90 of your own words.
- You may write EITHER a fluent paragraph OR in point form.
- You are NOT required to include a title for the summary.
- Indicate your word count at the end of your summary.

TEXT CTHE POWER OF POSITIVE THINKING

Positive thinking is a mental attitude that admits into the mind thoughts, words and images that are conducive to growth, expansion and success. It is a mental attitude that expects good and favourable results. A positive mind anticipates happiness, joy, health and a successful outcome of every situation and action. Whatever the mind expects, it finds.

Not everyone accepts or believes in positive thinking. Some consider the subject to be just nonsense, and others scoff at people who believe and accept it. Among the people who accept it, not many know how to use it effectively to get results. Yet it seems that many are becoming attracted to this subject, as evidenced by the many books, lectures and courses about it. This is a subject that is gaining popularity.

It is quite common to hear people say: 'Think positively!' to someone who feels down and worried. Most people do not take these words seriously, as they do not know what they really mean, or do not consider them to be useful and effective. How many people do you know, who stop to think what the power of positive thinking means?

All of us affect, in one way or another, the people we meet. This happens instinctively and on a subconscious level, through thoughts and feelings transference, and through body language. People are affected by our thoughts, and vice versa. Is it any wonder that we want to be around positive people and avoid negative ones? People are more disposed to help us if we are positive, and they dislike and avoid anyone broadcasting negativity.

When the mind is negative, negative poisons are released into the blood, which causes more unhappiness and negativity. This is the way to failure, frustration and disappointment. Always visualise the favourable and beneficial situations. Use positive words in your inner dialogues or when talking with others. Smile a little more, as this helps one to think positively. Disregard any feelings of laziness or a desire to quit. If you persevere, you will transform the way your mind thinks.

Leadership is a verb

Being voted the leading private bank in both South Africa and Africa proves that for us the phrase 'entrepreneurial approach' is more than just words. It's the very essence of what we do, ensuring that our clients never have to settle for anything less than the extraordinary.

QUESTION 5: USING LANGUAGE CORRECTLY

Read TEXT G, which contains some deliberate errors, and answer the set questions.

TEXT GCOMFY CLOTHING VERSUS STYLE

- | | | |
|---|--|----------|
| 1 | People who are fashion-conscious tend to prefer brand-name clothing. There is a large amount of people who prefer clothing that is loose and baggy. Clearly, they favour comfort. | |
| 2 | However, many others would sooner wear much tighter fitting clothes, even if they are uncomfortable. You could say that they are prejudiced against coats and pants that flap in the breeze. Because of the almighty power of fashion and peer group pressure, they do not care how ridiculous they look. What is more, they do not seem to care about how much they are suffering. | 5 |
| 3 | When wearing their apparently sprayed-on outfits, it gives them a false sense of being stylish. Caruso jeans are an example of casual articles of clothing that is well-known for being both expensive and almost skin-tight. They are expensive because extensive advertising has made many youngsters think that they are superior to any other brand. Then again, this is typical of a generation given to materialistic and superficial behaviour. | 10
| 4 | One often wonders whether these giant advertisers could spend more money on promoting morality. This could be a means of encouraging comfortable dress codes – being really chilled and not just 'Yo, I'm cool, dude!' | 20 |
